SUMMARY

I am a full-stack web developer with a great love for remote and collaborative work. I am certified by Microverse, a remote multicultural learning platform, where I perfected my technical and soft skills in web development such as effective communication, problem-solving, multi-tasking, teamwork, and leadership. Having the ability to learn new technologies in a very short time is my best asset, I really like to push myself, so I dedicate myself to completing a task, no matter how difficult it seems.
